Republicans Say They Have No Cause for Discouragement

Correspondence of The Evening Sta NEW YORK, Oct. 21, 1892. This is a great day in New York state. The country voter is having his turn at legislation today and the politicians are hard at work seeing that he gets out and gets on the registration lists. Curiously enough both sides are claiming a victory in regard to the registration in New York and Brooklyn and the smaller cities of the state. There is, of course, a large increase in the registration in New York, but the statistical sharps on the republican side claim that it is not even as large as the normal growth of New York city and Brooklyn would warrant. They claim, therefore, that New York city, or the section known as "below the Harlem," is not likely to give such a rousing democratic majority as has been claimed by the democrats. On the other hand the democratic leaders express themselves as well satisfied both in the great cities and in the smaller ones scattered through the state. That there have been gains in most of the cities throughout the state is undoubted. Whether they have been more than the normal growth would warrant is doubtful.
The republicans have made careful consultations and claim that there is a larger growth in the republican cities than in the democratic ones. The part registration in the villages and ones. The next registration in the villages and elsewhere will be watched with great interest. The country voters do not like the Australian ballot and there is great anxiety in the minds of the republicans about getting that vote out

As to what will be the result in New York state on election day no man can foretell. It is too close to make an accurate prediction. The chances seem to be about even. The repub ans had a plurality four years ago of 14,373; the democratic piurality one year ago was 47,937, but the total vote one year ago was 158,425 less than the total vote in the last presidential election. The falling off of the repubican vote on that occasion was 115,382, showing that that number of republicans stayed at home and dil not vote in the last state elec-tion, while the falling off in the democratic vote was only about 53,000. Whether the republicans will get out their vote as thoroughly in this election as they did in the last presidential ection is a question.

There are reasons for doubting it. One reason is the apathy which is so notice-able in political ranks generally and another is he dissatisfaction among the voters with the "new fangled" method of voting, known as the Australian ballot system, in operation in this state now. Nearly every time that the Austraian ballot has been tested in other states it has been found that there is a failing off in the republican votes. The farmers do not like this "new fangled" city way of voting. The big ballots which they have to handle and check puzzles them, and they do not like to admit that they do not understand it and call upon somebody to explain it, hence many of them stay away from the polls on account of it. It is a cause of the loss in republican votes wherever it is need. True n republican votes wherever it is used. True. in the elections in this city and state, but they or more stayed away from the polls end a large percentage of them were republicans. There are, therefore, 100,000 voters at least, probably 150,000, including the There are, therefore, 100,000 voters at least, probably 150,000, including the new voters, who exercise that right for the first time this year and are not schooled in this ballot system. Therefore it is still likely to have a marked effect in keeping voters away from the polls unless the republicans wake up to have a marked effect in keeping voters away from the polls unless the republicans wake up and establish immediately ballot schools all over the state, which they do not seem to be

Whether the republicans can get a majority in the state "above the Harlem" sufficient to overcome this is a question. They had in the last presidential election 14,373 plurality. Whether the apathy and the dislike of the Australian ballot, added to the loss of several thousand farmers who have moved out of the state in the last four years, will make it impossible for them to over-come the majority in this city and Brooklyn is the one question now being closely canvassed. The struggle that is being made to get out their vote throughout the state is tremendous and will continue more vigorous every day until the polls close on the 8th of November.

CALIFORNIA AND NEVADA. The Political Situation in Both States is of a Decidedly Uncertain Nature.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15 1899 According to the belief of the best local politicians the vote of California for President on November 8 is an uncertain quantity. Calion November 8 is an uncertain quantity. California always has been republican, the northern and New England element predominating among the people who have settled in the state. The people's party is strongest in Ventura county and the southern part of the state by
In 1868 Grant's majority was 506 and 1872 it was 12,234. Hayes received 2,821 votes more than Tilden and then, as already noted, the republican record was broken in 1880,
when the state went democratic. In that year Veaver received 3,463 votes. Blaine has always seen not only the first choice, but the idol of liffornia republicans, and in 1884 he received 2,406 votes out of a total of

is the most doubtful. The disorganization in the ranks of the people's party and the continued division in the republican party, together will will win the fight for the latter if conditions remain as they are now.

NORTH CAROLINA

It is remarked on the senate.

It is remarked on the senate. Therefore it is not surprising that all the republican nominees for the presidency have carried California except Fremont, who received only 20,600 votes out of 110,000 in 1856, and Garfield, who was beaten 117 votes by Hancock in 1880. In 1860 Lincoln carried the state by chronic troubles and have been treated by doctors of national reputation. Three professors in the leading medical college of Philadelphia treated me one for six months, one for eight months and one for two years. I was also treated for two years. I was also treated for two years are physicians here. and for ever two years by another prominent physician here, all to no avail, although they burned me with rest-hot irons and gave me every medicine and used the various appliances known to medical science. I suffered from insomnta, nervousness, pains in the back arms, shoulders, face, limbs had headaches, had bromble with my nose, threat and stomach; in fact,

Whatever the facts of the tariff problem may be, the average Californian has been made to see that nearly everything he buys is protected by the republican tariff. Iron and steel, glass by the republican tariff. Iron and steel, glass ware, hardware, woolen goods, tin plate, furniture, farming, tools, &c., are among the chief items in the list. On the other hand California produces only two things which are protected and which cannot be produced elsewhere in the United States. These are raisins and prunes, and are, therefore, the only two articles on which California exclusively enjoys the benefits of protection. Here again the democratic press has not failed to make the most of its opportunity, and it has repeated day after day and week after it has repeated day after day and week after week that so far as the reciprocal benefits of a high tariff between citizens and localities are concerned this coast is getting very much the worst of the bargain.

All this savors of the industrial rather than the political, but it is the only explanation of the undeniable fact that the Harrison administhe undeniable fact that the Harrison administration has not proved popular in California and of a growing feeling that there is enough commercial discontent to give the state to Cleveland. In fact, Californians do not indulge in much purely political feeling. They realize that they are not on the inside with either party. They feel that, politically, their state is still an outlying province whose existence is not essential to the happiness of either Mr. Carter or Mr. Harrity. But few crumbs of patronage fall to California in any event. Mr. Cleveland did not give the coast any more than he was obliged to when he was in the White House, and President Harrison has drawn the line after appointing a Californian minister to Japan. Neither of the candidates inspires any personal enthusiasm in California, and so it may be understood how the campaign narrows itself down to a cold basis of commercial and industrial conditions. The people are restless and desire a change for the sake of change and a chance to experiment sake of change and a chance to experiment with the free trade theories of Mills, Carlisle, Shively, Harter and Springer.

PROGRESS OF TARIFF REFORM. That this estimate of the situation is accurate is proved by the fact that the democratic press of San Francisco is teeming with interviews ob-tained from the local Greshams and McVeaghs, who "regret the necessity of severing lifelong political ties," &c., but who feel it incumbent upon them to vote for "tariff reform in the best interests of the country." A score or more of the leading merchants and business men in San Francisco have expressed themselves to that effect, while the republican newspapers have not been able to oppose the storm by recording a single disaffection from the democratic ranks. So much for signs.

On the other hand the republican party in this state has the help of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, which has been the controlling influence in politics, business and almost everything else for twenty-five years. C. P. Huntington is on the ground and tells everybody he is here to keep his corporation out of politics, but the Southern Pacific is very much in politics in spite of Mr. Huntington's interviews with the reporters. Senator Stanford is also on his way from New York and the Senator always takes a lively interest in politics without any of Huntington's nonsense about it.

Que unfortunate circumstance for the republicans in California is the candidacy of M. H.

De Young for the United States Senate. Mr. De Young is the proprietor of the San Fran-cisco Chronicle, one of the largest and most successful newspapers in the west. He is a gentleman who receives distinguished consideration when he visits Washington, and is Cal-ifornia's world's fair commissioner. Mr. De Young, however, is more popular abroad than he is at home, and if it transpires that the state legislature is to be packed in his interest many republicans will belt their ticket. For many years the Chronicle made bitter warfare upon the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, but now its proprietor has been com-pelled to make peace with the big corporation to further his political ambition, and there are railroad and anti-railroad republicans in California. The Southern Pacific seems to have accepted him—at any rate Mr. Huntington has ordered "hand off"—and the present appear-ances are that Mr. De Young has a very good chance to gratify his ambition and go to the

has been so gerrymandered that it is doubtful if he will be re-elected.

In the second district Caminetti has a hard row to hoe. His constituents include both farmers in the valley and manyby draulic miners in the mountains. Caminetti was faithful to his pledges to the miners and did his best to induce the government to help the miners and settle the debris problem by legislation. Consequently he will lose democratic votes among the farmers and gain republican votes among the miners, who are now in the minority. The district is a close one at best, and it is possible that the little Italian will be beaten by a new man, John Davis of Calaveras (with the accent on the e). There are no new complications in the other four districts, which are all represented by republicans. THE POPULISTS. When Gen. state. The democratic press has not been slow to tell its readers that these conditions are all due to the McKinley high tariff.

California's chief product is wheat, which the farmer has to sell at prices made in free trade England, while everything he buys is rated at prices controlled by the protected manufacturers of the east. At least this is what the Cleveland organs and politicians have impressed upon his mind, and it has had its effect.

STEVENSON'S VISIT. The visit of Gen. Adlai E. Stevenson, democratic nominee for Vice President, to Alabama, the leaders say, did great good for the democratic party. Stevenson was in Alabama only three days, but during that time he made six speeches, one at Opelika, one at Montgomery, two in Birmingham, one at Decatur and at Hunt's Mills. From the time Stevenson crossed the state line into Alabama from Mississippi on Sunday until he put his foot on Tennessee soil Wednesday night he received one continued ovation. At every little town along the rail-roads on which he traveled great crowds had roads on which he traveled great crowds had gathered to do him honor. At most of these places he made short talks to the people and held impromptu receptions. At Opelika a tremendous crowd from east Alabama and west Georgia greeted him. The greatest enthusiasm prevailed. The town was gaily decorated and fully 10,000 people turned out to hear him. In his speech Stevenson laid particular stress on the probable effects of the force bill in Alabama if said bill became a law. He appealed to the men who had straved off He appealed to the men who had strayed off from the party to return to the party of their fathers and help fight the measure which means the placing in power of the men who robbed

On Wednesday Gen. Stevenson addressed about 5,000 people at Decatur, including over 1.500 shop men and a large number of alliance men. That night he concluded his Alabama campaign at Huntsville, where he addressed another large crowd.

While all this has been going on the democrats have had Congressmen Moses and Livingston of Georgia as well as a number of other orators of prominence on the stump in the rural districts. Senator Pugh will be here from Washington in a few days to enter into the battle for his party. His throat is afflicted and he will hardly be able to do much in the way of speech making, but he will give the party leadspeech making, but he will give the party leaders the benefit of his council and presence.

It looks more every day as if Cleveland will carry Alabama and that the democrats will

One of these things is a stampede to failure, as the facts show. Recent news from the west of disorganization in the party in that section has had a degressing effect upon the leaders in the state. J. C. Manning, state secretary of the third party, who until a week ago was making a speech for Weaver nearly every day, is silent now. He still stands by his party, but lack of enthusiasm has caused him to stop making speeches for the present at least.

The Kolb forces as a political factor have been going to pieces ever since Goy. Jones that there will be no such stampede and join it, but the feeling in the past few days is that there will be no such stampede. The demclearly that it had a majority, stampede and join it, but the feeling in the past few days is that there will be no such stampede. The dem-ocrats have treated the republicans very courteously in this campaign. The third party is more bitter toward the democrats than the republicans are. Under no circumstances would the republicans go to the democrate. Republ can efforts now are to divide the democratic vote. They know they can hold the negroes and they also know that far more third party men are from the democratic than from the republican party."

THE PUSION REPUBLICAN VIEW. "Harrison is stronger in North Carolina than Furches, republican nominee for governor; Carr, the democratic nominee for governor, is stronger than Cleveland; Weaver is stronger than Exum, the third party nominee for governor. The contest for the electoral vote is be tween Harrison and Weaver. For governor the cratic success depends entirely upon the num-ber of colored votes polled by Cleveland and Carr. I am of opinion that Weaver will re-cleve the votes of 75,000 men who have heretofore voted the democratic ticket and the votes of 20,000 men who have heretofore voted the republican ticket. Harrison will have 120,000 and Cleveland 90,000. Exum will have 65,000 former democratic votes and 45,000 republicativotes; Carr will have 105,000 and Furches 90, 000. The legislature will be composed of an anti-democratic majority in both houses. The democratic opposition expect to elect Congress-men in the first, second, fourth, fifth and eighth, with a fighting chance in all the others."

Col. W. R. Griffith and Capt, David H. Calkins were the committee appointed for the purpose of setting the pole in place. This pole has been erected by contributions from members of the different patriotic societies in America. The flags upor it are given by the Lyceum League of America, an organization of patriotic young men.

One of the most significant features in con-nection with this flag is that upon the anninection with this flag is that upon the anniversary of the great peace events in the history of the United States the flag thrown to the breeze will be the flag of the Human Freedom League, that is, the stars and stripes in a border of white, significant of peaceful rather than war-like methods for the settling of international differences.

The dates already decided upon on which the peace flag will be floated are: October 21, Discovery day; September 3, date of the signing of the treaty of peace ending the war of the American revolution; February 6, treaty of recognition and assistance signed by France; December 24, treaty closing the war of 1812; April 9, anniversary of the re-establishment of peace between the states; May 8, Alabama claim arbitration treaty; May 7, arbitrating the Bering sea difficulty; January 1, ending of slavery in America; November 4, William Penn's treaty of peace with the Indians.

Policemen Crawford and Garvey appeared as witnesses and told of their last Sunday's visit to the "wine house" and their purchase of some of the sparkling fluid. The officers told of having seen men and women go to the place. One of the officers said he saw a fifteen-year-old girl officer Crawford said he was a temperance man, but he drank some of the wine because he had to do so to make a case. He also said he had been sent out there by his superior officer.

Mr. Carrington said an officer who would order another to do it should be dismissed.

The judge said he had been told by Maj.

Prof. John W. Chickering of Kendall Green then delivered a brief but interesting lecture upon "The Life and Times of Columbus," which Mr. B. P. Murray rendered more impressive with stereonticon illustrations.

Some Facts that may give you a hint or suggestion:

Correland's baking powder is perfectly pure and wholesome.

It does not contain alum, ammonia or any other adulterant.

Everything used in making it is named on the label.

Consumers know exactly what they are eating.

It is the strongest of all pure cream of tartar powders.

A rounded teaspoonful will do as much as a heaping one of any other.

Food raised with at does not dry up quickly, as when made with other powders.

It is more convenient and more economical than the ordinary cream of tartar and sods.

The larest official reports show it to be first class, and first in its class.

The U. S. Government buys it for the Army officers.

Government Chemists, State Assayers and other official authorities testify to its superiority.

Writers of domestic science, as Marion Harland, Mrs. McBride and Mrs. Parker, endorse it.

Teachers of cooking, as Mrs. Lincoln, Mrs. Rorer and Mrs. Dearborn, prefer it.

These are some of its points of excellence; others may have occurred to some of the thousand of women who are using it every day. Other facts are given in our cook book. Mailed for

COLUMBIAN CONGRESSES OPENED. The Purely Intellectual Part of the Big

The Rev. Francis H. Bigelow and the Rev. R. S. W. Woods are the assistant rectors of the church, and should no rector be selected before the auditorium when the Columbian congresses. the purely intellectual part of the exposition, were inaugurated by Archbishop Ireland of St. Paul. Certainly the occasion was brilliant beyond all expectations, and the demand for seats to bear the famous American prelate was relatively greater in comparison with the facilities, it is estimated, than the extraordinary pressure for admission to the dedication hall itself at Jackson Park yesterday. evening. Preceding all the addresses the opening inocation was impressively voiced by the Rev. John Henry Barrowa, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Chicago and chairman of the general committee on religious congresses.

President Chas. C. Bonney of the world's congress auxiliary now delivered the address of welcome, only two sentences long.

The women's branch greeting by Mrs. Potter Palmer was equally brief and to the point.

The salutation in honor of Queen Isabella by Mrs. Henrotin was also a beauty of compression.

The salutation in honor of Queen Isabella by Mrs. Henrotin was also a beauty of compression. It was at this time that Archbishop Ireland was introduced by President Bonney.

When the wonderful uproar of applause that greeted Archbishop Ireland had measurably subsided he delivered his address.

The singing of "America" by the entire audience came next, and then benediction was pronounced by Dr. Harper, president of Chicago University.

MR. ANDREW MILLER, AFTER A LONG SEARCH, FOUND THE TREATMENT THAT CURED HIM.

Mr. Andrew Miller, a boot and shoemaker by trade, has his place of business at No. 1204 11th street southeast. He was born and raised here and is well known in the southeastern section of the city. When the writer called he was busily engaged at his work, at which he is an adent, but when the subject of this acticle was broached he entered into it with enthuwear cotton in my ears. There was also some odor, which was very mortifying to me, knowing as I do that such conditions are obnoxious to every one. Five years ago, while in the northwest, I got my ears frost bitten and after that my ears ran more profusely and a continual itching was set up which, annoyed me a great deal.

"I had been treated by two physicians, but they could not stop the discharge. Through the advice of friends I called on Dr. Jordan and commenced treatment with him. In two months the discharge was en-
